Members Chosen By Honor Groups

Lins and Williams Tapped By Waubanakee At Gymnasium

BLUE KEY ELECTS OVER TWENTY MEN

On Thursday and Saturday of the past week, the Blue Key and Waubanakee honorary societies "tapped" new members from the student body.

While the rites of the Blue Key society were performed in Mead chapel Thursday, the Waubanakee society chose its new members in the more hilarious atmosphere of the gymnasium immediately following the enactment of stunt night. Twenty-seven members were selected by Blue Key, and these included: Loring D. Chase, Pierce G. Couperus, Wilfred C. Heinz, Charles H. Sawyer, John C. Seixas, and Marshall Sewell Jr., of the senior class; Everett S. Allen, William H. Arnone, Allison S. Beebe, Robert J. Boehm, John Chalmers, John E. Cridland, Paul B. Guarnaccia, Edward C. Hallock, Jack C. Keir, Cecil C. Liljenstein, Robert J. M. Matteson, James A. Miner, Albert J. Riccio, Albert Riccio, Henry M. Richardson, Donald H. Westin, and John R. Williams of the class of '39; and Robert L. Boyd, John Golembeske, John Kirk, and Edwin G. Nixon from the sophomore body.

The Waubanakee society, limited to only the junior class, chose Milton K. Lins and John R. Williams from that class to join its ranks.

While both the Waubanakee and the Blue Key societies are of an honorary nature, they differ in some respects. Members of the Waubanakee are recognized as having attained certain set requirements of that society along the lines of scholarship, extra curricular activities, and character.

The Blue Key is composed of men from all three of the upper classes, and membership is in recognition only of ability in extra-curricular activities.

Randall W. Hoffmann '37 Presented KDR Award

Randall W. Hoffmann '37 was recently awarded the Kappa Delta Rho cup.

Hoffmann was editor-in-chief of the Saxonian, and a member of Waubanakee. He was king of the carnival last winter, member of the Blue Key and the "M" club, and on the varsity football squad as well as the track team.

This cup is presented by the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity on the basis of interest in extra-curricular activities, scholarship, character and loyalty to the ideals and traditions of the college.

College Musicale To Be Presented

Members of Music Department To Give Concert Of Student Pieces

A concert of unusual interest will be presented next Tuesday evening, May 25th, at 8:15 p. m., in Mead chapel. All the music to be performed at this concert has been written by college students, as part of their work in advanced musical courses.

Five Middlebury students will be represented on the program by original compositions. They are Robert I. Morgan 37, Lawrence W. Shields '37, Katherine R. Stackel '37, Wendell A. Towne '38 and Evelyn B. Adriance '38. In addition, the program will include a group of compositions by Castle Newell, a student at Hillsdale college, Michigan.

The works will be performed by soloists and ensembles from the student body and by members of the music faculty of the college. Among those taking part will be Miss Adriance, Miss Stackel and Towne pianists,

SUPPER FOR MEMBERS OF FORUM TO BE HELD AT SAND PITS TONIGHT

The women's forum will hold a picnic this evening at 5:30 in the sand pits off Adirondack View. This will be the last forum program of the season.

This year the forum has had a great variety of speakers and discussion groups. Among these were panel discussions by students and faculty members and speeches such as Basil Matthew's lecture.

The forum has also given active support to the peace movement. Besides joining the Carnegie international relations clubs, the forum also voted to give twenty-five dollars to a student going on the Emergency Peace Campaign or to an American Friends work camp this summer.

At the annual spring elections Elizabeth I. MacCulloch '38 was chosen president. Another officer is Arne L. Bulkeley '38.

Dorothy J. Briggs Wins Annual Prize

Presentation of Panhellenic Award Made at Student Union Meeting Recently

A meeting of student union was held in Mead chapel last Wednesday. Dean Eleanor S. Ross talked about several awards and made various announcements.

At this time the Panhellenic prize was awarded to Dorothy J. Briggs '39. The girl receiving this sixty dollar prize may use it in any way she chooses. Miss Ross also stated that those juniors who wish to apply for the Emma Willard scholarship or the Optima prize should do so at once in writing to the Dean's office.

Miss Ross made three other announcements. Those planning to come back next year should place a room deposit of ten dollars in the office of the Dean before May 21. Persons who desire to live at the cooperative house next year should hand in their names at the Dean's office. Seniors should make reservations in Miss Ross's office soon for rooms for guests during senior week.

At the close of the meeting the president, Jean Hoadley '38, called attention to certain changes and rewordings of the constitution approved by the advisory committee. These revisions take effect in September.

Members of this year's senior class who were officers last year include Janet Gray, Helen M. Kuechel, and Mildred L. Moore.

Weather Dampens Junior Week Fun

Two Baseball Games And One Tennis Match Are Cancelled

PROMENADE SUCCESS

Claude Hopkins Orchestra Well Received by 110 Couples

Rain-drenched days and nights considerably dampened the spirits of Junior Week revellers, but the Junior Prom and a final night and a day of good weather relieved the depressed atmosphere somewhat.

The prom on Thursday night was the unquestioned high-spot of the program as 110 couples gave Claude Hopkins an enthusiastic reception to Middlebury amid a swirling maze of colored beams of light reflected from the far-famed Crystal Ball. Eleanor E. Barnum '38 was chosen prom queen, her attendants being Isabel A. Ingham '37, Winifred M. Duffield '38, Ruth A. Barnum '39 and Lois D. Gillette '40. Chaperons for the dance were Pres. and Mrs. Paul D. Moody, Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. William Wills, Dean Eleanor S. Ross, Dean Burt A. Hazeltine and Prof. and Mrs. Raymond L. Barney.

"Gold In The Hills" on Tuesday and Wednesday nights played to large audiences, providing an unofficial opening to the festivities Friday night was

Lins, Golembeske 'M' Club Officers

Men Prominent in Athletics and Non-study Activities, Also In Blue Key

Milton K. Lins '38 was elected president of the "M" club and John Golembeske '39 was chosen treasurer-secretary at the meeting held yesterday evening at 6:30 in Hepburn social hall.

Lins has been active both in sports and other extra curricula activities during his three years at Middlebury. He was a letter man for two years on the varsity basketball team, was elected co-captain of the team this season, and made his letter two years on the baseball nine.

John Golembeske is a letter man in football, member of the Blue Key and secretary-treasurer of the interfraternity council. He is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon.

Arthur Healy's Landscapes and Sylvia Kodjbanoff's Sculpture Show Blend of Tradition and Modernism

By Hazle deC. Bien '39

The current exhibit in Forest hall of Arthur Healy's paintings and Sylvia Kodjbanoff's sculpture reflects the blend of tradition and modernism that is so evident in much of today's creative art.

Far less startling, weird and unusual than the former exhibits of wood-cuts and reproductions of oil paintings, this group of water colors and the single piece of sculpture are much more intelligible and require much less effort and study to be fully appreciated. An untrained eye will find as much to admire in the rhythmic lines of Miss Kodjbanoff's half-draped woman and in Mr. Healy's richly simple, masculine water colors as the more meticulous and bored eyes of a weary critic.

Sculpture Indicates Modern Trend

"End of Summer", the prize winning piece of sculpture in a contest sponsored by the National Academy of Design, reveals the modern trend toward intense simplicity. No fussy details detract from the single effect produced by the flowing curves suggestive of hopeless longing and regret. Without the use of any tricks or exaggeration Miss Kodjbanoff has created a very convincing statuette, expressive of a mood and conveying plastic charm by the clever repetition of swinging curves.

Mr. Healy's paintings, while based on traditional choice of subject matter and form, are made interesting and unusual by the unique and personal touches of surprising brilliant colors and distinctly different treatments. He paints in swift, broad strokes, wasting no energy and achieving the strength of masculine simplicity. Unlike many more dainty water colors that lose their force when viewed at a distance, Mr. Healy's pictures are just as powerful from any angle.

The artist's rich jewel tones, especially his blues and rusts, fill the landscapes with dramatic feeling, bordering at times on the bizarre, especially in such paintings as "The Silo."

Milton K. Lins Elected President Of Student Body At General Poll

Prof. John Andrews Will Present Musicale Friday

Prof. John T. Andrews will present the last musicale of the year Friday afternoon at 5:30 in Mead chapel.

Professor Andrews will give a recital of piano music. His program will start with "Prelude and Fugus in C Minor" by Bach. This will be followed by Mozart's "Sonata in C" and Schubert's "Impromptu in A Flat".

The second part of his program will include 'Nachtstuck in F" by Schumann as well as two selections of Chopin's, "Waltz in A Flat" and "Scherzo in C Sharp Minor."

The twilight musicales are sponsored by the A Tempo club. This year recitals have been given by students and by members of the faculty.

Day School Heads Plan Meeting Here

Headmasters of Association To Convene During June 27-29 to Discuss Policy

Plans are being completed for the meeting of the Country Day School Headmasters association of the United States which will be held on the Middlebury campus June 27 to 29.

Following the vesper service on the opening day the members of the association will adjourn to Hepburn social hall for a "testimonial session", at which time twenty headmasters will speak for three minutes each on "the outstanding problem of the year in my school". Officers of the association are Morton Snyder, the Rye Country Day school, Rye, N. Y., president; Charles W. Bradlee, the Pebble Hill school, DeWitt, N. Y., secretary; Clifton O. Page, the Park School, Indianapolis, Ind., vice-president; and George B. Lovell, the Hopkins Grammar school, New Haven, Conn., treasurer.

Subjects to be discussed at the business meetings are Country Day school business policies, teacher tenure, social security plans and boarding schools. President Moody, Dr. Freeman and Professor Owen of the Middlebury faculty will speak at a "Middlebury College" program at the Bristol inn on the 28.

The wives of the headmasters will be entertained during their stay with a program which is being arranged by a committee headed by Mrs. Julius S. Kingsley. On Monday evening the group will hear a piano concert given by Mrs. John DeQ. Briggs, wife of the headmaster of St. Paul academy, St. Paul, Minnesota.

An annual event, the meeting of the association was held last year at Cornell university. The recreational facilities of Middlebury will be used to the full extent as outings are planned to supplement the business meetings.

Edgar J. Wiley, director of admission and personnel, and his assistant, Harry T. Emmons, have been put in charge of the affair. In their plans for the convention delegates they will be assisted by Dean Eleanor S. Ross and Mrs. Janet W. Kingsley.

Miss Martin Gives Talk At Spanish Club Meeting

Miss Rose E. Martin spoke at the year's last meeting of the Spanish club held Wednesday evening at Forest recreation room.

The speaker's topic was "Goya, the painter of the rebellion". Illustrating her remarks with prints, Miss Martin explained the Spanish character as revealed in the paintings and etchings of Goya.

Boyd and Leggett Chosen To Head Sophomores And Freshmen

WILLIAMS WILL BE SENIOR PRESIDENT

Large Percentage of Men Vote by New System Of Selection

Elections for president of the undergraduate association and officers of the men's classes were held Wednesday, May 12 between 6:30 and 8:30 p. m. in Mead chapel. All choices were made under the preferential system of voting, which was recently inaugurated by the student council.

On the first counting of the ballots for undergraduate head, Milton K. Lins had 97 first choices, Richard C. Soule had 81, Donald H. Westin 54, and John E. Cridland 40. Since no man had a majority, Cridland's name was dropped, and his ballots redistributed. On the second counts Lins had 116 votes, Soule had 95, and Westin 61. Still no one had the 137 votes needed for a majority, so Westin's name was scratched, and when his ballots were redistributed the count stood Soule 128, Lins 144, making Lins the victor.

Officers for the class of 1938 will be John R. Williams, president; Lins, vice president; E. Sherburne Lovell, treasurer; and Harold W. Lewis, secretary.

In the class of 1939, Robert L. Boyd will be president; Edwin G. Nixon, vice president; Edward E. Palmer, secretary; and Ralph Petrizzi, treasurer.

Glenn H. Leggett will be president of the class of 1940, and Robert F. Pickard vice president. On the second counting of votes, William A. Onion and Harold I. Wyman each had 61 votes. Their offices were decided by a flip of a coin, Onion taking the position of treasurer and Wyman being made secretary.

The turn-out for this election showed a marked improvement over those of former years. This has been credited to the new voting regulations enacted by the student council.

Of the 349 men eligible to vote, 272 took their turn at the ballot boxes. Of those not voting nearly twenty were off campus at the time of voting. The percentage of those casting ballots was the highest in the freshman class, only 17 of the 146 eligible failing to record their preference.

Vermont Students Win Scholarships

Ten Candidates Are Given Annual $1,000 Award For Outstanding Abilities

Ten scholarships were awarded to Vermont students for the next four years, it was announced recently by Edgar J. Wiley, director of admissions and personnel.

The scholarships are given annually by the college to students who live in the state of Vermont, and amount to $1000 for a four year course. They are awarded on the basis of work done in preparatory school, and marks received in psychological test given the candidates.

The recipients of this year's scholarships are: Kenneth R. Aldrich, Rochester; Richard F. Buck, Newport; Allan J. Cobb, Middlebury; Albert W. Coffin, Burlington; Robert G. Gale, Stowe; Roger M. Griffith, Manchester Center; Willard M. Mayo, Rutland; Donald S. Putnam, Springfield; Sidney H. Thomas, Orwell; W. Philip Walker, Rutland.

POST-MORTEM

"Stunt Night" marked the poor spot of a Junior Week quite successful despite dismal weather. Although the Pan-Hellenic presentation was well executed, most of the competitive skits seemed ill-rehearsed and hastily planned. Yet there is an unfortunate but strongly practical reason for continuing this unsatisfactory entertainment,—financial lucrativeness against a background of empty class treasuries.

Every May the juniors are faced with this unfortunate situation: santy dues collection grossly insufficient to balance potential expenditures for both the mid-spring holiday and Senior Week, only one year ahead. Needing liquid funds quickly the class decides on the time-tested remedy which again proves successful—financially. This year, for instance, the juniors required much money to put their accounts on a sound basis; from a degenerating entertainment plan they received more than enough and all was well, save audience satisfaction.

Two general methods of alleviating the "Stunt Night" problem appear at first glance: improvement or elimination. The former might be accomplished by producing an interfraternity show comparable to Friday's intersorority program, or by establishing a stunt tournament with only the three best productions being given the decisive evening.

Elimination of "Stunt Night" would be feasible only when another workable technique of filling the financial cupboard is at hand. Compulsory class dues on the term bill, long in effect at many more progressive institutions, is the remedy. With every class member contributing an equal amount to the group treasury, financial accounts would be always in excellent condition and no few individuals would bear an unjust burden. Under these conditions "Stunt Night" could well be replaced by a dramatics department play, a schedule followed some years ago.

Sober second thought reveals possibility of combining the benefits of both plans. If the play were not too long, a brief stunt program, improved on the suggested lines, could precede it. Financial returns, if any, might be split 50-50 between the dramatics department and the junior class. This dual program would provide excellent skits, and give some aid toward defraying Junior Week expenses.

The first step in effecting the combined plans should be placing class dues on the term bill—preferably on a revised term bill that would have but three items: room, board, and a tuition charge including all so-called extra fees. The second step requires only a modicum of initiative by those who plan Junior Week for the class of thirty-nine. Certainly undergraduate sentiment is behind these proposals unless the Campus poll and post-mortem discussions of "Stunt Night" have been entirely hypocritical.

Students Attend I. O. C. A. Annual Spring Conference

Sam M. Warner '39 and Claribel M. Nothnagle '38 attended the annual I. O. C. A. spring conference at Great Barrington, Massachusetts May 7.

Miss Nothnagle attended a conference on I. O. C. A. policies and Warner led a discussion about winter activities.

In reviewing the conference Warner said that the things which impressed him most were the financial difficulties encountered by other colleges, and the advantageous location of Middlebury for winter sports and hiking.

Women To Show Styles Tomorrow

Home Economics Group to Model Dresses Made in Clothes Class And Give Out Refreshments

Thirty students in the home economics department will take part in a style show to be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 in Forest hall recreation room.

The show, which is held annually at the close of the college year, is for the purpose of exhibiting the work done by the clothing classes. The dresses, which include models in silk and cotton, for sport, afternoon, and evening wear, will be worn by the members of the class who made them.

Tea will be served by women who are taking the elementary cooking course. They will be under the direction of Martha E. Arnold '38 and Helen V. Jordan '38, members of the advanced class.

On The Ball

by Soule

Since nearly all that John Weatherman contributed to last week's athletic contests was a torrent of rain, about the only field in which to roam is that of what would have happened had better weather pervaded. The ball team was faced with the best opportunity of the season to redeem itself Friday and Saturday against Norwich and American International college. The tennis team might have assured itself a place among the entrants to the New Englands later in the month but both were forced to bow before the heaven sent water bucket.

Not so, however, with Coach Brown and his track team. Because Middlebury was considered the pre-meet favorite at the Eastern Intercollegiate Track Meet, last Saturday, their fourth place performance appears rather mediocre to the average onlooker. Mixed in between a steady drizzle, a water soaked, heavy track, and adverse conditions in general there were some pretty excellent times and distances turned in by Middlebury men.

Jack Cridland, after solemnly vowing every day for the past few weeks that he would give Ross of Vermont, the outstanding hammer thrower in New England, some competition certainly came through when he tossed the weight over 144 feet, some eight feet farther than he has ever done before in competition. The only drawback was that Ross outdid himself too.

That little Iron Horse, Red Williams, who captured three firsts against B. U. last week in one of the finest endurance exhibitions ever given by a Middlebury track star, also came through in great style. Running in the worst lane in the 100 yard dash, he nosed out all of his competitors to take first place and tie the meet record at ten seconds flat. Soon afterwards he was barely shaded out by Trinity and Connecticut State men in the 220 yard dash, another race run in unusually fast time under the prevailing conditions.

Ken MacFadyen easily defended his half mile crown when he won his race in good time without being pressed at any time during the race. Running his second race of the year, Paul Foster was forced to take a close second to a Tufts runner after nearly catching him at the finish. Paul Guarnaccia won the broadjump on an uphill runway that definitely held down the distance. Cushman in the mile, Rathbone in the low hurdles, and Riccio in the shot put all placed to complete the Middlebury total.

Using somewhat better judgment, the golf team spent the holidays at the Oakley Country Club, Watertown, Mass., where they raised the Blue and White to a higher position in golfdom. The four man team's qualifying total of 317 brought home a fifth place against mighty strong competition from some of the best college quartets in New England. Dick Neilson qualified with a 76, one stroke back of Willie Turnesa, one of the outstanding amateurs in the country and winner of individual honors in the N. E. I. C. C. A. Middlebury's ex-captain put himself well up in the running in the 36 hole medal with an outgoing 73 for the first eighteen, plenty good in any tournament, only to falter on the incoming holes and smash his possibilities of victory. Dude Johnson, Dud Phinney, and Phil Cullins all qualified for the Beckmen and turned in several good cards. Notable is the fact that this is the first time Middlebury has qualified four men in the New England Intercollegiate tournament.

Though it is not customary to bring personalities into a college newspaper sports column, it would seem that Middlebury athletes have not received full credit due them owing to lack of space given in the paper to sports. Consequently this sector offers its space this week to a few of those men, who have been "On the Ball".

Panther Nine Drops Vermont Contest 3-2

American International and Norwich Games Are Washed Out

After dropping its initial Junior Week encounter to Vermont, 3-2, the Panther nine was unable to play the two contests with American International college and Norwich because of rain.

Playing practically errorless ball, the Catamount, behind the three hit pitching of Bedell, capitalized on scoring opportunities in the first and eighth innings to garner three runs. Gustafson, the Blue and White hurler gave up seven safe hits. He issued only two bases on balls, however while Bedell gave four free passes as well as hitting three men with his deliveries.

Gustafson started badly by walking the first two men to face him. A stolen base and a bunt by McDonough put the runners on second and third, and a base hit by Hart brought in two runs. Vermont threatened again in the third frame when a single and a stolen base put Wolinski into scoring position. A single by Berry was followed by a fast peg from Labouchere to Jacques, nipping Wolinski at home. Hart flied out to Guild to end the threat. Again in the eighth the Catamount capitalized on an error and a bad throw from Jacques to Boehm to score the third run.

Brownmen to Run In N. E. I. C. A. A. Meet

Leading Stars of East Will Enter at Cambridge On Saturday

The New England Intercollegiate Athletic Association meet is the most significant tournament held in the northeast during the track season. Here meet in an imposing list of track and field specialties all the leading point-getters of the large and smaller institutions of the territory. The Panther will meet its stiffest competition this year when it runs Saturday at Cambridge and will compete against more than one national record-holder in the individual events.

Owing to the short time remaining before comprehensive examinations many of the senior trackmen will be unable to make the trip.

Foster and MacFadyen, in their last year of competition, may not be able to compete Saturday and their absence would prove a serious handicap, but three leading juniors will make the trip under all circumstances. These are Cridland, Guarnaccia and Williams. With good luck it is hoped that Williams may place in his specialties, the dashes. Very strong competition is expected, however, in the hammer, shot put, broad jump and discus, as the records are unusually high.

Blue and White Netmen Defeated by Vermont 6-3

Of the three tennis matches scheduled for last week-end, only one, that with U. V. M., was played. In that encounter, the Blue and White netmen fell before the Catamount by a 6-3 score.

In the singles matches O'Keefe defeated Harris 6-2, 7-5, Paul Buskey lost to Starbuck 1-6, 6-3, 5-7. Captain Phil Brown, playing his last match as an undergraduate, beat Coombs 4-6, 6-7, 7-5 while Jack Kier dropped his contest to Namos 6-2, 3-6, 4-6.

Curt Macdowell lost to Rand in the stiffest struggle of the afternoon 6-3, 9-11, 1-6 and Steve Ward could not overcome his opponent.

Due to a leg injury, Kier was unable to play in the doubles matches. His place was taken by Bob Pickard. Pickard and Macdowell lost to Namos and Rand 3-6, 2-6.

Track Squad Places Fourth In E. I. C. A. A.

Brownmen Take 26 Points As Vermont Wins on Heavy Track

Under leaden skies at Burlington the Blue and White track team placed fourth with 26 points in the Eastern Intercollegiates Saturday afternoon. The underdog aggregation of U. V. M. was the victor with a total of 38 points in the 16th running of this meet.

The summary:

Linksmen Place Fifth in N. E. I. G. A. Tourney

Last Friday and Saturday Middlebury's golf team placed fifth in the tournament sponsored by the N. E. I. G. A. A. Fifteen of the largest colleges in the East took part in these matches.

In the team matches, Dartmouth took first place with a score of 298. The Indians had a steady team which was never in danger of losing its lead. Turnesa of Holy Cross brought in the winning score in the individual matches, with Wright of Dartmouth a close second. Of the Panther team, Neilson had the low medal in the finals, with a score of 160.

Baseball Nine To Play Hamilton, St. Michael's Here; U. V. M. Away

Netmen to Contest Union Here And R. P. I. Away

With favoring weather, the Blue and White tennis team will play two matches during the coming week. On May 21 the varsity squad will encounter the Union sextet on the Hepburn courts. The following day the team will engage R. P. I. netmen at Troy.

The Union squad will be at full strength for Friday's encounter and will provide strong competition for the Panther sextet. However, the Middlebury squad has been conceded a slight advantage over the Schenectady squad on the basis of past performances. Both teams have been badly handicapped by inclement weather throughout their schedules and will feel the lack of active practice greatly.

The R. P. I., match appears on the basis of past performances to be a Middlebury victory although by only a slight margin. The R. P. I. squad has suffered greatly from the poor weather but they will be at top strength for Saturday's match.

Capt. Brown, Buskey, Kier, O'Keefe, McDowell, and Ward will be in action in the first-string lineup. The doubles teams will be composed of the Brown-Buskey, Kier-O'Keefe, and McDowell-Ward combinations. Pickard, who saw action in the last match, will be in reserve for possible substitution.

Owing to the fact that rainy weather has predominated throughout the past two weeks, it cannot be expected that the Panther netmen will be in the best of shape for their next encounter. It is hoped that the weather will not interfere with these next matches, for they are among the last of the season, and will give the Blue and White their last chance to finish well in what has already been a good season.

Nashmen Approach Close Of Season Playing State Games

With three games to be played this week including one away with the University of Vermont, and two at home with Hamilton and St. Michael's, the Panther nine begins to wind up its 1937 season.

Since the game with Vermont here last Thursday, the nine has had very little practice because of inclement weather. This will place them at a disadvantage since the Vermonters have more chance to get inside practice. However Vermont has not had a game since then, as the scheduled St. Michael's contest was rained out. The Panther lineup will be the same today as it was in the last game, Gustafson on the mound.

Hamilton college has had a freak season, having beaten the strong Syracuse team only to meet defeat by R. P. I. With this on the records, the outcome with the Blue and White cannot be prophesied very definitely. Kingsley will pitch for Middlebury, backed up the regular lineup.

To date St. Michael's has won three games and lost three. Among her victories are Middlebury, Clarkson, and St. Lawrence. The St. Michael's nine has lost to U. V. M. and has been beaten in a return game by the Larry's from Canton. No lineup has been announced as yet for the Winooski nine.

With these three games, the varsity nine begins to close the 1937 season. The squad has one more scheduled contest next week and possible games that have been rained out. On the whole the team's season has been rather discouraging for both the players and the spectators with a large percentage of the encounters rained out during the unusually poor baseball weather in the past two months.

given over to the interfraternity stunts with Delta Upsilon carrying off the honors. Delta Kappa Epsilon and Sigma Phi Epsilon shared the honorable mention award.

Saturday night all the fraternities held open house dances. Other fraternity functions included breakfasts for the prom-goers on Friday or Saturday morning. Sunday night the social events of the week were concluded with a band concert and the step-singing. First place in the sorority competition went to Phi Mu, followed by Kappa Kappa Gamma and Sigma Kappa in the second and third places respectively. The cup in the fraternity competition was awarded to Kappa Delta Rho, while Chi Psi took second place.

A baseball game and a tennis match were the only athletic events successfully completed during the week as those scheduled on Friday and Saturday had to be cancelled. The sophomore-freshman rope pull also had to be called off.

it must be Chesterfield

..that delicious aroma couldn't be anything else

Aroma is half the pleasure of smoking

Chesterfield's aroma is DIFFERENT ...more pleasing...you like it better.

That's because of the way we blend and balance Chesterfield's mild ripe home-grown tobaccos and aromatic Turkish tobaccos...and because the Chesterfield paper is PURE and burns without taste or odor.

Chesterfields will give you MORE PLEASURE

They Satisfy
